THE OLD SIXTH.

THE OLD SIXTH.

Baltimore, April 20.—The Worcester Light infantry—the lines! descendant of the old Massachusetts Sixth, which will be remembered as the first armed and equipped regiment that marched to the relief of the national capital—arrived here yesterday at the same hour and over the same route traversed in 1861. On this day thirty years ago, the Sixth Massachusetts infantry, commanded by Col. Edward F. Jones, was attacked by a mob while passing through the city and lest four of its men killed and many wounded. The observance of the anniversary was arranged for some time ago and the reception acmen to be landed at Whale Sound late in June or early in July. They will remain there during the summer, putting up houses, getting supplies, and making reconnoissances, and if the season permits, in establishing an advance depot of supplies near the southern angle of the Hamboldt glacier. The winter will be spent in building sledges, arranging clothing and traveling equipment, and in practicing with the immense snow shoes. Four or five of them will start in the early spring of 1892 over the ice to Humboldt glacier, leaving themen in charge of the houses at Whale Sound, then on to Petermann for some time ago and the reception ac-corded the Massachusetts regiment will certainly destroy the last feeling of resentment over the deplorable event of 1861

Mayor Davidson, representing the city; Col. W. H. Love, representing the state, and three G. A. R. posts received the dele-gation at Camden station and escorted them to the Carrolton hotel, preceded by a Whale Sound, then on to Petermann Fiord, where a second depot of supplies will be established. While one of the party returns to Whale Sound the other party returns to Whale Sound the other two or three will push on to the head of Sherord, Osborne Fiord, pince a depot there on to Long Fiord, and thence to the northern end of Greenland.

The personnel of the party will be the chief, his assistant, a doctor and two or three others, all young hardy, and active. It has been discovered from experience that in active work every increase in the number of a party is an elegent of denous. band of music. Some of the old veterans of the Sixth were in line and were heartify cheered, particularly by those who partici-pated in or witnessed their former reception in this city.

Upon arriving at Carrollton, Mayor Davidson, welcomed the visitors. He said:

"It is at once my privilege, as it is my pleasure, as the chief magistrate of the city of Baltimore, to tender to you its free-dom and hespitality. Without self praise or vain glory, the city of Baltimore can truthfully say that its doors are always thrown wide open to receive the visitor from any other section of our common country. But, gentlemen, your visit is quite apart from that of the ordinary traveler for business or pleasure. It is another eler for business or pleasure. It is another of the many evidences of that broad and liberal spirit, ever to be expected and gen-erally found in the brave and loyal veterans of the war, who have forgotten, long since, the heat and bitterness of the strug-gle between the states, and laid them aside for the more permanent conquest of generosity and kindness and brotherly af-

"We welcome you to our city, our hearts and our homes assuring you that we shall ever remember with profound pleasure the honor you have conferred upon us by your presence here." and our homes assured and our homes assured the honor you have conferred upon us by your presence here."

Capt. Davis and Capt. Sisson, of the visiting delegation, replied, expressing great pleasure over the warm-hearted reception they had received.

An informal reception followed. The visitors will remain here until Tuesday, in the meantime receiving many attentions and relitizens.

CHAINED TO THE ROCK.

Prometheus was chained to the rock while vultures gnawed his entrails. So are many people chained to the rock of prejudice while all manner of violent medicines inflict injury upon the sensitive lining of the stomach and intestines. They are apparently immovable in the belief that to experience benefit they must keep dosing with drastic medicines. Unless the action of these is powerful and excessiva, they are not satisfied. They would distrust a remedy of gentle action, however effective. It is not by such purblind extremists as these that the acknowledged merits of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are recognized. That benign regulator of the stomach, the bowels and regulator of the stomach, the bowels and the kidneys appeals to the rational—not only appeals, but is awarded a just valua-tion. FRANCE AND RUSSIA.

Paris, April 20.—A statement reproduced here from German papers declares that the French government is chagrined by a communication from the czar regarding the demonstration made during the visit of the Empress Frederick to Paris. This statement also says that when the attitude of the Emperor William seemed menacing, the czar, being sounded as to whether he was prepared to support France in the controversy, replied that he disapproved of the laxity of the French government in permitting an insult to an imperial personage and his relative. The statement adds that this rebuke was keenly felt for a time and had the effect of modifying the pro-Russian program of the "PROHIBITION BEER." BRUNSWICK, Me., April 30.—Prof. F. C. Robinson, the noted chemist of Bowdoin college, has made public some facts about the "prohibition beer" white Maine people have been drinking of late years. The ple have been drinking of late years. The professor says: "I cannot but warn the people of Maine and the no-license towns of Massachusetts against the light beers which are now being put so extensively on the market. They come within the law, as they do not contain over 1 per cent of alcohel, but it is far better for a man to stick to raw whisky than to indulge in this prohibition beer. The injurious effect of this beer lies in the fact that quite a percentage of the command that quite a percentage of the compound is salicylic acid that is aided to stay fermentation, which would occur on ac-count of the absence of alcohol. Salicylic acid acts with a very dangerous effect upon the kidneys, and a frequent use is almost sure to bring on Bright's disease. There is hardly any beer sold in this country that does not contain some of this seid."

Experience of explorers has shown the impracticability of investigating Greenland along its edges, but its interior gives an extended easy road of hard, dry snow. To some this has been a bugbear, but to a properly equipped expedition it is the best kind of a road. Fifteen to twenty miles a day is a reasonable estimate of the advance to be made, and the whole distance to the northern point and back to the southern end of Humboldt glacier is 1.319 miles. The only disadvantage lies in the storms, but against the fury of these a pit in the snow offers sufficient refuge.

Culinary Points Worth Knowing. Pare a fresh lemon very carefully without breaking the white inner skin; put it inside a wild duck; a lemon kept there for forty-eight hours will remove all the strong taste often so unpleasant in wild The lemon should be changed every twelve hours. To flavor and make tender a joint of roast beef, and to give variety to the family table, where beef is the usual meat eaten, nothing more is required than a large lemon; cut it in two pieces, squeeze all the juice upon the meat, then, after peeling the lemon, roll it up in the joint (ribs of beef, etc.). When the lemon is used no water is required. The joint should be a fat piece of meat to insure good gravy, the lemon acid removing the oily taste sometimes objected to.
